She may be just a baby, but she is already mighty. We debated whether to hold her until fall or offer her in our inaugural sale and that alone should tell you how strongly we feel about this one. This Red Knight x Pinky mating is unique, and we believe she deserves the spotlight. She is bred for the backdrop, combining power, balance, and presence in a way that points toward a big-time show career. Her look is undeniable, and her future as a donor cow is just as exciting. We will keep her til weaning and deliver to new owner.
